Chapter One — Art I drew

Chapter Two — AI-generated art

Chapter 1: I Drew These! :)

One of the best Road Runners I've ever drawn (+an okayish Wiley)

Wile E. Coyote — Wileward Ethelbert 'Wiley' Coyote

The Roadrunner — Theodore 'Roadie' Road Runner

Something weird and random I drew at midnight

Every non-human Looney Tune I actually care about (I think)

From an AU idea I had where Bugs and Daffy are younger. They get adopted by Granny (Emma Webster) and attend Acme Acres Looniversity.

This is from that same AU. Wiley is a young coyote interested in art, physics, and complex gags. Unfortunately, his life's about to be completely derailed by a certain hyperactive bird...

Redesigned Marvin to work better in a human AU. Sort of.

Human Bugs!

My first major attempt to draw Roadie.

I seriously can't get over how proud I am of this Roadrunner...

Marvin, Marcia, K-9, and a new dog for Marcia. It took me one hour and thirty-four minutes altogether, though I didn't do it all in one sitting.

For Marcia's dog, I've decided to go with the name K-8, as a pun on Kate. Marvin says the full designation every time; Marcia says 'Katie', and calls K-9 'Kenny'. The dogs are pleased. Marvin is not XD

I decided a while ago that Marvin has little spikes/fins under his helmet. Then I found out about Marcia and her hair. Two things resulted from this: the first is that Marvin's spikes are now orange, to match her; the second is that my version of the Looney Tune Martians now have the very interesting gender difference of spikes/fins-vs-hair.

Thoughts?

T-t-that's all, folks!

Chapter 2: AI Made These!

From now on, Wiley will have a scarf whenever I redesign him. It adds to his character, I think.

It took me 19 minutes to edit this after many, many attempts at generating each. Wiley was trickier to generate than Calamity.

Calamity ended up so cute 😊

↑ And now I've made Tech! Best ☐ ↑
(I forgot he had an underbite...)

↓ All the Coyote boys together ↓

Four-legged Coyote boys!
Is this just going to be 90% Coyotes? Yes, yes it is.

Now it's Roadie's time to shine! :D
I had to remove an entire extra wing and a weird hand-claw thing from this image, lol.

Roadie gets a satchel now, because I said so.

Who's ready for the one and only Lil' Beeper? ☐

Let's hear it for the Runners, shall we? Wooo!

And now for the completed Roadrunner and Coyote pairs ↓
☐ Don't you just love these guys? ☐

Finally, something not related to Coyotes!
Babs and Buster Bunny, everybody. Here, they are reimagined as the fraternal twin children of Bugs and Lola.

I don't like Tiny Toons Looniversity. I think it misunderstands the zany humor of the original and instead leans into dumb humor instead. Which is a similar problem to the new Animaniacs.

HOWEVER, I absolutely love how they took the 'no relation' thing and completely threw it out the window by making them twins. So I'm copying that. They always had more 'sibling' energy than 'dating' energy anyways, whenever not being explicitly romantic, you know?

Can't do Looney Tunes without Bugs Bunny, now can we?

My version of Lola is somewhere between her Space Jam and The Looney Tunes Show versions. But I got rid of the ears-as-ponytail thing — I kinda dislike that trope, it looks like it would hurt...

Bugs gets even more Karmic Trickster vibes, now! ☺ (Part of me wanted to make him tinged purple like in the first season of The Looney Tunes Show, but he just didn't look right)

I renamed Lexi, so sue me. She still goes by Lexi, though.

I know I literally JUST said I don't like the ear-ponytail thing, but hear me out — superhearing oversensitivity issues solved via ear-binding. Ta da!

Ace's sword ended up a little bit wonky, lol.

To be clear, they would probably wear armor when actually being heroes and clothes as civilians. But Tech ended up bare and then Rev was so now they all are. :/ Whatever, they've got fur and no visible bits and are Toons, so I still consider it appropriate.

And that's it for the Bunnies! :)

I decided to make a Looney Tunes OC. Her name is Dusk/Dusky/Duski Bat.

She'd usually have roles involving libraries or books, often as a librarian. There'd be a running gag where something always ends up interrupting her just as she's about to speak, so she never ends up saying a word.

I plan to make Tiny Toons and Loonatics counterparts for her.

Anyways, I hope you like her :)

(It's a half hour until midnight and I've been working on this for a while. I might be sleep deprived...)

Okay, meet Zephyr Chiroptera! She'd be a quiet spy or something (as a different sort of knowledge procurement than a librarian), and/or would be the medical officer. She'd have the power of invisibility and really sharp claws.

Scout the Little Brown Bat. He's more of a rambunctious and loud sort than Dusk, but he's still nerdy and well-learned at heart, and treats the proper care of books as Serious Business.

And that's it for my OCs! Unless I decide to make a counterpart line (like rabbits vs ducks, coyotes vs roadrunners, etc). I hope you like them! :)

Oh, I've decided the entire line has a shared love of/are easily distracted by shiny things. This would be used as a foil to their intelligent/calm (except Scout)/quiet (again except Scout) vibe, and would be their downfall more often than not.

I finally got around to making the counterpart line. They aren't perfect, admittedly, but I like them. They'd all be music-themed, and excluding Sunny (who is polite, gentle, and quiet) they'd be energetic and loud. I still need to make more lore for them to match the bats, lol.

They need some kind of shared weakness to match the bats' shiny objects thing, of course. I'm thinking that either they physically cannot stay still when they hear music, or they completely shut down when it gets cold.

The counterparts together.

AI redesigns of the best picture I've ever drawn of Roadie. The tails are wonky, but I like these.

DESIGN UPDATES:

To celebrate the upcoming (today is August 8, 2026) release of Coyote Vs ACME, here's Wiley! Much better than last time, I think. Much more HIM

Next up is Calamity! Who I kinda forgot I gave blue eyes to last time. He'd actually look a lot better with blue eyes. I might have to update this...

And it just wouldn't be complete without Tech — with clothes, this time!

Update: I once again forgot that he has an underbite 🐶

I'm planning on a better group picture later, but it's late where I am and I'm tired, so this is what you're getting for now XD

Grok's two attempts to redo my Martian fanart. I ran it through before I'd finished the little details on certain things, like Marvin's skirt.

ChatGPT's redoes of my Martian fanart ☐

A human version! It's not perfect, but I would watch this show...
