

Character Profiles

Batman - All Media Types · Alvin and the Chipmunks - All Media Types · Not Rated · 1052 words

by Arukir

Contents

Character Profiles 3

 Chapter 1: Simon Wayne..... 3

 Chapter 2: Kookaburra, The Blue Robin 5

 Chapter 3: Alvin Wayne 6

 Chapter 4: Cardinal, The Red Robin..... 7

 Chapter 5: Theodore Wayne 8

 Chapter 6: Quetzal, The Green Robin 9

Character Profiles

Fandom: Batman - All Media Types, Alvin and the Chipmunks - All Media Types Rating: Not Rated Category: Gen
Warnings: Creator chose not to add warnings
Words: 1052 Chapters: 6 chapters Status: Complete Published: 2024-04-01

AI art of the Simon, Alvin, and Theodore Wayne. Including character details and hero personas.

The art was created with ChatGPT. It's a really great app, I suggest checking it out!

Chapter 1: Simon Wayne

Simon Wayne's profile.

Simon is the adopted teenaged son of Bruce Wayne. He is amnesiac, unable to remember the first seven years of his life, but otherwise has perfect recall and an almost-instinctual knowledge of technology.

He has dark brown hair and bright blue eyes. He is known for being much taller than his brothers.

He has a compulsive need for the color blue, becoming anxious and confused if there is none in his vicinity. He is intelligent and quick-thinking, with a dry/sarcastic sense of humor. Despite being the same age, his brothers will go to him for information/advice, and will trust what he says. He enjoys fighting villains like the Riddler due to how they challenge his mind, and will often spend his free time reverse-engineering/improving their inventions.

He has a bizarre but strong friendship with the teenaged super-thief Harley Quinn, often texting her and making sure she has somewhere to live when the other Rogues are in Arkham. He is homeschooled, and has a small job tutoring other kids.

He is a skilled musician, able to play multiple instruments, as well as an excellent singer with perfect pitch and a slight ability to change his voice.

If anyone tries to bully someone he cares about (or just bullies someone in front of him), they will quickly regret it. From hacking their bank accounts to siccing robots on them to posting all their dirty secrets online, he is one nerd who won't stand for injustice.

Chapter 2: Kookaburra, The Blue Robin

Simon's hero identity.

Ignore the one of him in a business suit, okay? His suit is mostly the full-body one, with bits of the one where he has a bird.

AI art isn't perfect.

Kookaburra, The Blue Robin, is a tech genius and the leader of the current Robins (under Batman).

He is a hacker who fights using a variety of gadgets, including but not limited to a glider, smoke bombs, pulse gun (non-lethal), and holograms.

He will use high-pitched sonic devices to confuse his enemies, mimicking a kookaburra's laughter. He is cautious in battle, choosing to use distraction, trickery, and long-ranged attacks. He will try to get as much information as possible before going into a situation. He loves high up places, and will often patrol the tallest buildings in Gotham.

His friendship with Harley Quinn has led to him becoming something of a super-criminal/antihero. He only ever steals from bad guys (well, he steals information from just about anyone). His hacking abilities and intimate knowledge of the various Rogue/Bat weapons makes him a formidable foe, whether he's using them against criminals, corrupt cops, corrupt companies, or a government.

Chapter 3: Alvin Wayne

Alvin's profile

Alvin is the adopted son of Bruce Wayne. He is amnesiac, unable to remember the first seven years of his life, but has an incredible knowledge of weapons and fighting styles.

He has a medium shade of brown hair and light yellow-brown-hazel eyes.

He has a compulsive need for the color red, becoming anxious and confused if none is near him. He is reckless and easily excitable, often plunging headfirst into a situation without thinking it through. He loves physical exertion, particularly sports or combat, and has trouble sitting still.

Though kind-hearted, he feels emotions strongly and is quick to anger. Once someone becomes his enemy, it is very hard for them to become anything else. On the other side of the coin, once someone becomes his friend, he will defend them as passionately as he would fight an enemy. He gives his all to what he does, no matter what it is, unless he really doesn't want to it; at that point, he gives nothing. There is no in between to him.

He is somewhat mischievous, gleefully pulling pranks or outright lying. He enjoys teasing others, but can go too far without realizing it. He often causes trouble, either on purpose or by not thinking something through.

He can be charismatic when he tries, easily capable of sweet talking someone into doing what he wants, but he doesn't like doing this to those close to him. He can be manipulative, but only ever uses it for good. Or amusement.

He is a skilled musician, able to play multiple instruments, and an excellent singer with a slight ability to change his voice. He has perfect pitch.

Chapter 4: Cardinal, The Red Robin

Alvin's hero identity

The suit of the full-body one with the bigger mask of the other one.

Cardinal, The Red Robin, is the weapons master of the new Robins.

His main weapon is his longsword, but he as well fights with daggers and throwing stars. His mask makes his eyes appear to glow red, adding a certain menace to his attacks.

He is headstrong in battle, jumping happily into the thick of the fighting without a second (or even a first) thought. He loves taunting and messing with his enemies, often serving as a distraction, both knowingly and not.

He draws a clear line between enemies and everyone else, a line that's gotten muddled due to his brother's friendship with Harley Quinn.

Chapter 5: Theodore Wayne

Theodore's profile

ChatGPT kept having trouble with Theo, so I ended up having to settle for a picture that wasn't quite right.

Theodore is the adopted son of Bruce Wayne, and is smaller than his brothers. He is amnesiac, unable to remember the first seven years of his life, but has a vast level of knowledge of animals and nature.

He has light brown hair and green eyes.

He has a compulsive need for the color green, becoming anxious and confused if none is around him. He is kind-hearted and gentle, with a love for cooking and the natural world.

His tendency to behave and think like a young child lead people to underestimating him, not realizing that he is a fierce combatant. He is very intelligent, but has trouble prioritizing and doesn't really believe in something being impossible, leading him to suggest possibilities that seem like fantasy.

He does not get angry often, but is fierce when he does.

He is a skilled musician, able to play multiple instruments, and an excellent singer with a slight ability to change his voice. Like his brothers, he has perfect pitch.

Chapter 6: Quetzal, The Green Robin

Theo's hero identity

His suit and mask are a combination of the two pictures. A Quetzal is a type of bird, some of which have green feathers.

Quetzal, The Green Robin, is the support of the new Robins.

He mainly fights using a bostaff, but has a variety of non-lethal poisons as well.

He prefers not to directly fight, instead rescuing civilians, healing wounds, doing recon, and talking people down. He has an uncanny knack for knowing what a person is feeling, empathizing with them even when they're a villain, and using that to stop volatile situations.

— end of "Character Profiles" —